HINZA

The Swedish carry-all, since the 1950s

A Swedish design classic

Hinza bags have been made in Sweden since the 1950s. The shape is simple and hard-working: a sturdy, wipe-clean tote that goes from the market to the beach, the garden, the gym or the back of a bike, and keeps its shape while it does.

Most colors are made from biobased plastic, in which more than 60% of the raw material comes from renewable sugarcane. Two sizes, a bicycle bag and a set of fitted accessories make it easy to build a full, colorful display.
