

Disaster Preparedness

A new calendar year means it's time to create or update your disaster preparedness plan and be certain to include details for your furry friends. Remember that what is best for you is usually best for them as well. Be sure not to wait until the last minute, as then you are very likely to forget some important aspect of your pet's safety or security.

The key to being prepared is the creation of a comprehensive checklist before the disaster hits. The Internet can be a reliable source of information on how to create and customize a kit for your specific needs. We sell basic first aid kits, but a comprehensive disaster kit involves some customization in order to meet your unique requirements. We recommend the following websites as a good place to start:

ASPCA

<http://www.asPCA.org/pet-care/disaster-preparedness>

Department of Homeland Security

<https://www.ready.gov/pets>

FEMA has partnered with the American Kennel Club, the ASPCA, the American Veterinary Medical Association, and The Humane Society of the United States to create a very informative and compact brochure on how to prepare for emergencies with your pet(s). To download this resource as a PDF file, simply visit the DHS website listed above, scroll to the bottom of the page, and click the "Prepare Your Pets for Disasters Brochure" link. There are also a number of additional resource links provided.

Create your "Getaway Plan".

If you must evacuate, take your animal friends with you. Plan to assemble your companions and anticipate where to go. Plan highlights should include a Pet Emergency Kit, a picture of you and your pet(s) to prove ownership, and a list of pet friendly hotels. Don't forget to verify your vet's contact information is up to date.
