

I NEED YOUR INPUT

Literally, I need your input—as in data.

If you haven't stopped by recently, you may not be aware that we've completely redesigned geartechnology.com (and powertransmission.com). We started from scratch and rebuilt the sites from the ground up to serve, you, the readers.

But in order to serve you best, I need you to do three things:

☐ Subscribe/Renew. By filling out the form to renew your FREE subscription to Gear Technology, you help us keep your data up to date. You also provide us with vital information that helps us continue to deliver the best possible technical content to meet your needs.

☐ Visit the Buyer's Guide. If you are in the market for any machines, tooling or services related to gear manufacturing, or if you need to find suppliers of gears, gear drives or gear manufacturing services, our online directory is the go-to resource. (And if you are one of the aforementioned suppliers—and you're not listed—take a few minutes to fill out the fast and easy form at geartechnology.com/get-listed.)

☐ Explore the site and send feedback. You can reach anyone on the AGMA Media team by visiting geartechnology.com/contact-us. Or you can send a message directly to me via geartechnology.com/contact-randy-stott.

We'd love to hear from you. But most of all, spending a few minutes to fill out these fast and easy forms helps us continue to make Gear Technology the gear industry's information resource.
