

Viktória Nahorňaková

Front-end developer

I'm self-thought junior front-end developer. I have a history in customer service type jobs, mostly working in team or leading smaller teams. I'm great with time management and have good organisational skills, always aspiring to fulfil every deadline i throw at myself. I absolved various online courses with certificate and learn on projects i create for myself. Although i lack job experience in this field, i overcompensate with a will to learn, get better and google harder.
