

Here are five of the most influential speech therapy (SLP) professionals and educators on social media today, why they stand out, and how you can follow them:

1. Ms Rachel (Rachel Accurso)

Platform & Reach:

- YouTube – 15.1 M subscribers, ~11 B views

Why follow:

- Ms Rachel’s Songs for Littles blends research-backed speech therapy techniques like slowed intonation, sign language, and mouth-modeling. Her content is an exemplar of engaging, evidence-based early language development.

How to follow:

- Subscribe to “Ms Rachel – Toddler Learning Videos” on YouTube or search for @msrachel.
-

Here are five of the most influential speech therapy (SLP) professionals and educators on social media today, why they stand out, and how you can follow them:

2. Elena Sorrentino (@peds_slp)

Platform & Reach:

- TikTok & Instagram – 103 K followers

Why follow:

- An early intervention SLP and feeding therapist, Elena shares concise, clinically grounded content that's ideal for professionals and parents. Free resources & growth-oriented posts.

How to follow:

- On Instagram/TikTok, find @peds_slp.

Here are five of the most influential speech therapy (SLP) professionals and educators on social media today, why they stand out, and how you can follow them:

3. Andi Putt (@mrsspeechiep)

Platform & Reach:

- Instagram – 190 K followers

Why follow:

- A voice for autistic representation in SLPs, Andi offers authentic insights on autism traits, communication strategies, and culturally informed therapy.

How to follow:

- Follow @mrsspeechiep on Instagram.

Here are five of the most influential speech therapy (SLP) professionals and educators on social media today, why they stand out, and how you can follow them:

4. Grace Bernales, M.S., CCC-SLP(@gracefulexpression.slp)

Platform & Reach:

- Instagram – 59 K followers

Why follow:

- A pediatric SLP and orofacial myologist who runs a telehealth private practice, Grace shares practical advice on speech therapy, myofunctional techniques, and online service delivery.

How to follow:

- Look for @gracefulexpression.slp on Instagram.

Here are five of the most influential speech therapy (SLP) professionals and educators on social media today, why they stand out, and how you can follow them:

5. Amy Graham, MS, CCC-SLP (@grahamspeechtherapy)

Platform & Reach:

- Instagram – 98 K followers

Why follow:

- A specialist in articulation, phonology, and apraxia, Amy shares insightful, easy-to-understand content geared toward clinicians and parents working with speech-sound disorders.

How to follow:

- Find @grahamspeechtherapy on Instagram.