

VEHICLE DEFENSE

TRAINING MATERIAL & OBJECTIVES

Successful Completion of Intermediate Pistol or Equivalent Required

Today's news broadcasts are replete with stories about innocent drivers being assaulted or carjacked. According to the Council on Criminal Justice's most recent Crime Trends Report, between 2019 and 2023, both car thefts and carjackings increased dramatically, by 105% and 93%, respectively.

Your first step is to research and know the your states relevant laws and use-of-force, what you can legally do. Pineland Consulting teaches how to shoot, not when.

This course provides a student-centered approach to teach appropriate responses to such a threat. Utilizing a combination of instructional techniques that appeal to the cognitive, effective, and psycho motor domains of the adult learner such as handouts, role play, student participation, simunitions, and live fire, this course will add to or enhance the student's knowledge and response techniques.

This can be a mentally and physically demanding course requiring a significant movement and significant concentration and situational awareness depending upon which level of the course offered. It is offered in 3 levels to meet each student/group requirement Course Coverage includes but definitely not limited to:

- Classroom and power point
- Weapons Handling and Firearms Safety, specifically around vehicles
- Situational awareness and avoidance of threats to you while in your vehicle
- Use of non-traditional shooting positions in and around vehicles
- Engaging a threat, in close proximity to vehicles while protecting family/loved ones
- Using a vehicle as cover and concealment
- Target Discrimination
- Realistic Time and Accuracy Standard
