Message from the Co-Founders

"The journey of Empire Logistics is not just a business venture — it's the story of resilience, friendship, and unwavering belief in a shared dream."

From the early days of college ambition and uncertain beginnings, to standing strong in the logistics industry today — we've walked a path filled with hurdles, risks, failures, and above all, lessons. What started as an individual passion, transformed into a powerful partnership — built on trust, persistence, and a common purpose.

We, Anish Kar and Ssummon Nath, began this journey with nothing but experience, courage, and the will to build something meaningful in the cross-border logistics world. While Anish focused on sales, finance, and exploring new global routes, Ssummon has always been the driving force behind operations, managing the toughest fieldwork and on-ground execution with relentless commitment.

What makes Empire Logistics different is not just our services — it's our story. A story rooted in friendship, fueled by struggle, and lifted by the people who believed in us: our clients, our team, our partners.

As we continue to expand our presence and routes across South Asia and beyond, we remain committed to the core values that brought us here — hard work, hope, and humility.

With gratitude,

Anish Kar & Ssummon Nath
